Introduction to GIS

Lab 1: Introduction to ArcGIS Pro

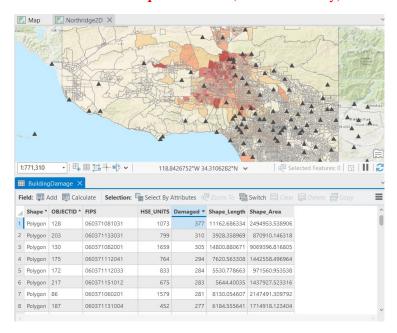

Exercises:

Part I: Explore the ArcGIS Pro interface and structure

Please follow the document of Exercise 1 and answer the following questions.

Q-1 What is the area of the most damaged region (polygon)? (2 marks)

• 2494953.54 Square Meters (Unit is necessary)

Q-2 What is the mean area of polygons in the BuildingDamage layer? (2 marks)

• 1,358,937.697 Square Meters (Unit is necessary)

Right-click on the field Shape_Area in the attribute table of the layer "BuildingDamage", then click Visualize Statistics.

Part II: Working with map views

Please follow the document of Exercise 2 and answer the following questions.

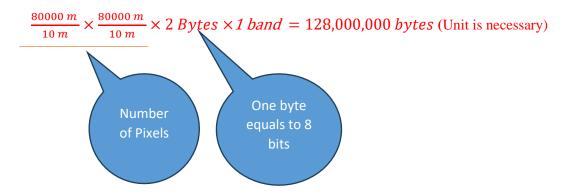

Q-3 What is the cell size of the elevation layer? (2 marks)

 $100 \text{ m} \times 100 \text{ m}$. or 10,000 square meters (Unit is necessary).

Right-click the Elevation layer and choose Properties.

Q-4 Given a DEM layer covering an area of $80,000 \times 80,000 \, m^2$ with a spatial resolution of 10 m. Each pixel has a cell depth of 16 bits. What is the least data volume required (in bytes) for storing this DEM layer? (3 marks)

Q-5 What is ".lyrx" file? (2 marks)

- ".lyrx" is a layer file or is for a layer file (must mention)
- It is more like a link/reference to a data file (it does not store the spatial data, but the path of the data) (must mention)

- It stores the properties of a layer, e.g., the symbolization and the display extent (must mention)
- Any other reasonable/relevant description...
